

'Assess Yourself and Learn from the Best – Showcasing and Rewarding European Public Excellence'

PRESS RELEASE

Kick-off of the European Public Sector Award – EPSA 2015.

The European Institute of Public Administration - EIPA – with the institutional and financial support of 12 European public partners – invites applications to the fifth European Public Sector Award – EPSA 2015, a well-established award scheme which has taken place every two years since 2007.

Public administrations submitting applications for EPSA 2015 will become part of an extensive European network of public sector excellence, in which they can benchmark their achievements with their peers, whilst at the same time learning from each other.

Under the overarching theme 'The Public Sector as Partner for a Better Society', the EPSA 2015 seeks to showcase and reward those cases from Europe's public sector that embrace public administrations as partners in integrated and participatory governance approaches to public service delivery, that show increased effectiveness and efficiency in the context of maintaining social cohesion, innovative public management and leadership approaches, as well as sound public finances or intelligent action by public administrations to promote economic growth.

Changes towards more collaborative ways of working, developing new approaches, from service design to delivery, considering sound public finances and new leadership models, can be found in many administrations and across all administrative levels. The EPSA 2015 thus aims to reward public excellence in administrations, and public innovators behind the cases that are reflecting this 'new' role in society, and who are finding novel solutions by providing outstanding public services and by ensuring that consideration of social inclusion underpins their decisions.

Applications submitted should demonstrate changes leading to successful outcomes, for example effective engagement of stakeholders for user-centric services and improved public service delivery, increased effectiveness and efficiency in the context of maintenance of social cohesion, innovative public management and leadership approaches, sound public finances or intelligent actions by public administrations to promote economic growth.

The EPSA 2015 will present awards in two categories based on the level of administration:

Category 1: Projects/cases submitted by organisations from the European, national or regional level;

Category 2: Projects/cases submitted by organisations from the supra-local or local level.

In addition, a third award will be presented to a successful and outstanding project or case - drawn from both categories - with a significant, cross-cutting perspective, e.g. cross-border, cross-administrative, cross-sector, etc.

Besides the three above-mentioned awards, Best Practice Certificates (BPC) will be presented to a number of top-ranked projects in each category.

EPSA 2015 is looking for administrations that have novel solutions to current challenges and that are driving good governance and society forward as a partner. EPSA 2015 is offering them an ideal opportunity to showcase their achievements and to get their successes recognised. Therefore all public administrations are encouraged to apply with successful and inspiring projects.

The EPSA 2015 will be presented on the occasion of a high-level event on leading-edge public administration solutions, which will be held on 17-18 November 2015 in Maastricht, the Netherlands, under the auspices of the Luxembourg EU Presidency. This event will offer a significant opportunity for European administrations with innovative performance and outstanding achievements to reach an extensive audience and to be recognised for being at the leading edge of the European public sector.

The online application period is open from 5 February until 17 April 2015 (24.00 Brussels local time, CET)
